Applying for a scholarship - FAQ

• How can I receive a scholarship from DAAD?

Search DAAD's scholarship database at: www.funding-guide.de

• What are the deadlines for DAAD scholarship applications?

Generally you have to apply a year in advance of your course start date. Always check at: www.funding-guide.de

• What are the general requirements and documents for a scholarship?

1. Last academic degree not older than six years
2. Proof of language skills (English or German)
3. Curriculum Vitae (CV)
4. Copy of school leaving certificate
5. Copies of academic degrees & transcripts
6. Motivation letter (for some programs only)
7. Research proposal and acceptance from a supervisor or a PhD program for PhD applicants

Note: Each program might require different documents in addition to the above mentioned ones! Always double-check at: www.funding-guide.de

Studying in Germany - FAQ

• How much does it cost to study in Germany?

Generally there are no tuition fees at public universities, at the most up to 500€/semester. Living costs vary from city to city (600-900€/month). Check: www.study-in.de

• How can I get an acceptance letter from a German University?

Each university has different admission requirements. Look for suitable degree courses at www.study-in.de (for all programs) or www.daad.de/idp (for English programs) and apply via www.uni-assist.de or directly at the university of your choice.

• Do I have to study in German?

No, there are about 1800 programs in English at universities in Germany; see www.daad.de/idp. Please note that the number of BA programs in English is very limited!

• Where can I learn German in Jordan?

Besides other institutions, Goethe Institute Amman offers German language courses: www.goethe.de/Amman

• How can I earn a Bachelor's degree in Germany?

With a Jordanian school-leaving certificate you cannot start your studies at a German university right away. You have to study at least one year at a Jordanian university or do a preparatory course in Germany (www.studienkollegs.de). Remember though: For most preparatory courses and many Bachelor's courses, a high level of German is required (C1)!

• How can I do a Master's degree?

Search for a Master's course at www.daad.de/idp (for English programs) or www.study-in.de (for all programs) and apply via www.uni-assist.de or directly at the university of your choice.

• How can I do my PhD in Germany?

For an individual doctorate you have to find a supervisor. Look for professors at a German university and contact them with your research proposal. For structured doctoral programs search at www.daad.de/idp. A good overview about doing your PhD in Germany can be found at: www.research-in-germany.org

• Where can I apply for a student visa?

Non-German citizens living in Jordan have to apply for their visa to Germany at the German Embassy in Amman: www.amman.diplo.de
